

Greenville Community Theater
presents

NUTS

A courtroom drama by Tom Topor

Directed by Stewart Hanges

Featuring

John Chillemi • Ray Eckerle • Jean Eifert • Scott Faubel • John Geil
Arlyne Goldberg • Richard Gould • Robin E. Lowe • Adam Welsh

Produced by special arrangement with Samuel French, Inc.

Note: This play contains adult themes

Our Air-Conditioned Location:

Edgemont High School Theater
White Oak Lane, Scarsdale, NY

General Admission:

Students/Senior Citizens 62+	$18.00
Group Rate for 10+	$15.00
	$12.00

Special Discount (General Admission):

On Thursday, June 14th only $10.00

Dinner Theater Package:

(includes show, tax & gratuity) $40.00
at: Pas-Tina's Restaurant
155 South Central Park Avenue, Hartsdale, NY

Synopsis:

A Broadway hit, Nuts has been called the best courtroom melodrama since Witness for the Prosecution and The Caine Mutiny Court Martial.

Set in a courtroom in New York's Bellevue Hospital, the story concerns an incarcerated woman's valiant attempt to fight those who want to have her committed as mentally incompetent to stand trial on a manslaughter charge. The State, represented by a court appointed psychiatrist and an aggressive prosecutor, say Claudia Faith Draper is nuts.

In the course of this arresting yet at times very funny drama, she attempts to demonstrate to the judge that she isn't crazy — despite what everyone else may believe.

"[Has] the audience rooting for the good guys and hating the bad guys, as if the whole event was the most beautifully professional wrestling match you have ever seen. Nuts is a play that moves you...you are in court watching a woman fight for what she believes is her total future." — N.Y. Post

June 14, 15, 16, 21, 23, & 24, 2007

Thursdays, Friday & Saturdays at 8 pm • Sunday at 2 pm

Reservations & Information:

(914) 636-2863